GREEN LOCAL SCHOOLS – BULLDOGS STRONG

October 23, 2015

District Notes

"It takes a Village to Raise a Child" is an old African proverb. The concept is based on the successful combination of an environment paired with nurturing care. It equates to a child being raised in a community rich in society benefits and rewards. As Superintendent, I am equally confident the extraordinary quality of school districts performing at high achieving levels, attain the status through an environment full of varying outstanding partnerships. The Green Local Schools is privileged to be one of those districts, surrounded by wonderful community partners.

In the past few weeks, several partnerships exemplified this concept. The Summit County Sheriff's Office serves as our first responders. Members of the department were summoned and swiftly responded during a recent situation at our high school. Working with our administration, the officers quickly and without incident evacuated and returned the student body in a very short period of time. Officers remained on-site to ease any fears and respond to questions. Partners in safety. On September 11, fifty middle school students boarded a bus for the Flight 93 National Memorial. This inspiring and unforgettable experience was provided at no cost to the district thanks to the efforts of the Halo Foundation and ACME Fresh Market. Partners in funding.

The Young Professional group of the Green Chamber of Commerce, Doug Chevrolet and Park Auto Group rallied to collect thousands of canned goods and dollars to benefit the district's Blessings in a Backpack program. No dollar amount can be attached to the value of exposure and call to action the event created. Partners in basic need.

I hope you were able to attend the first Wellness Fair at Akron General Medical Center. Classes, demonstrations and information booths offered something for everyone throughout the day. The health of our Bulldog families is essential for success in the classroom. Partners in health and nutrition.

Green Local Schools is proud of the relationship and partnership with our local media outlets. We are excited to be included in the South Side Leader's publication. The Green Report will highlight our outstanding staff, students, families, and facilities as we continue to be recognized as a high performing district. Our numerous arts, highly competitive athletics and rigorous academics equate to public education serving the community of Green. Partners in promoting.

Through these partnerships and many others, students learn that the community cares about education, cares about their academic success, cares about their basic well-being, and cares about their health. The message from our community to our students is "Green

Jeffrey L. Miller II
Superintendent

Cares About Me." It is a powerful, positive environment that makes and keeps Green great. On behalf of the Green Local School District, thank you for being a village to our kids.

Green World Languages Program Expands to include 4th grade and offers German Sprechen Sie Deutsch? Parlez-vous français? ¿Hablas español? Do you wish you could? If you had only had an opportunity to start when you were young! This school year, Green students as young as 4th grade will get to embark upon their own language-learning journey. We have all heard that research supports the introduction of second languages at an early age. In fact, evidence suggests that a student who begins to learn a second language before the age of 12 has a much better chance of becoming fully fluent in the language than someone who starts later in life. With that in mind, teachers and administrators have worked diligently to create a vision and a plan to address this very need. While full implementation will take three years, the enthusiasm about its introduction in both the schools and the community has been extraordinary.

At Green Intermediate

School this year, students in the 4th and 5th grades are introduced to Spanish while the 6th graders explore French. Señora Berkhouse, who is new to the building this year, facilitates their learning in one-week cycles, for a total of six weeks by the end of the school year. Students also have access to technology which uses Middlebury Interactive Languages programs. Next year, German will be introduced in the 6th grade.

As students move to Green

Middle School, their language learning accompanies them. Instead of having only one week at a time, all 7th graders receive nine continuous weeks of French, Spanish, and this year, German. Veteran teachers Sra. Mayhew and Mme. Mullett welcome new teacher Herr Bauknecht to their group. With a longer period of time, they are able to help students appreciate each language and culture in more detail which, in turn, helps them decide which one they would like to take for high school credit. In the 8th grade, level I of French and Spanish continue to be offered to select students, and next year German I will be added.

Green High School continues to offer Spanish I-IV, Advanced Grammar and Advanced Placement. Señoras Matisak, Garritano and Popovich are thrilled to also welcome back French and German to the department. French I and II are taught by new teacher M Gustafson. Herr Bauknecht joins them mid-day

Angie Garritano
World Language
Department Chair

to teach German I and World History. Additionally, students of Latin and Chinese take courses in an online setting during the school day.

Another exciting aspect of the new program is the integration of new resources, starting in our introductory and level I classes and continuing next year in the remaining levels. Class sets of Google Chrome Books were purchased for the classrooms as well as new textbooks which combine traditional and progressive learning models to help teach our students the 21st century skills needed to become global citizens of an ever-connected world.

The Arts In Green

Eleven students were chosen to represent GHS at the 2015 Kent State University All-Star Choir Festival this past weekend. Selection was based on leadership and musicianship. Rylee Adam, Taya Andrews, Denton Cohen, Camden Diver, Megan Hellenenthal, Elise Hooker, Tyler Kemerer, Nathaniel Kozak, Max Levinsky, Lauren Smith and Annie Zwisler were among 160 high school students from 18 different schools throughout Ohio chosen to participate. The All-Star students spent two days learning and rehearsing music, meeting music faculty and students at Kent State, and touring the campus. Extensive time was spent in rehearsals and preparing for a final performance. Tyler, Nathaniel and Lauren participated in mini voice lessons with KSU Vocal Music faculty. The All-Stars gave a spectacular final concert Monday evening under the direction of Dr. Scott MacPherson, director of choral activities at KSU.

Mrs. Julie Pickering serves as the Green High School Choir and Ensemble director. Thank you for proudly representing GHS and our choir department!

Forum. The event required an enormous amount of planning in a very short period of time. GHS continues to support and embrace the district's diversity initiative. Members of Chain Reaction were invited to participate in a weekend diversity symposium in Chardon, bringing back to our building new skills and knowledge to implement into our student and staff culture. We would like to welcome all veterans to join us on Tuesday, November 10th, for a remarkable celebration and take a view at our new Veterans Memorial Courtyard.

GIS believes in leadership! October has been changed to Socktober. Students are challenged to "stand in someone else's shoes" by collecting new socks for the local homeless shelters to help prepare for the cold winter ahead. This initiative began with Robby Novak who is better known as

"Kid President." Kid President shares his positive and encouraging leadership messages via YouTube and through his popular book called Kid President's Guide to Being Awesome. All socks collected

Advanced & Enrichment

Based on needs for the 2015-2016 school year, Green Local Schools Superintendent Jeffrey L. Miller II approved the transfer of teacher Kristi Ovak to the position of Advanced Academic Program Coordinator. In this position, Ovak will work with the director of student services and the district gifted consultant to provide district-wide support for the development and continuum of advanced curriculum and enrichment opportunities.

Kristi Ovak

Ovak will focus on three goals this year: continuum of service, criteria for placement, and communication. She will collaborate with school personnel to review the district advanced programs and support teachers in the planning, development, delivery, and continuation of advanced curriculum and enrichment for students. With school counselors and the gifted consultant, she will help establish a criteria for placement into programs appropriate for those students showing a need for an advanced curriculum. Providing information to families about advanced programs and services is one of her top priorities. She looks forward to meeting with parents and opening the lines of communication to better advocate for advanced students.

This is Ovak's 13th year with Green Local Schools. She has served as a Gifted Intervention Specialist for grades 6-8 and an 8th grade language arts teacher. During her time in Green, she has been involved in several enrichment programs, including coaching GMS Academic Challenge, organizing the opportunity for middle school students to attend the annual Reading and Writing Festival at Kent State University, and the Laws of Life writing contest, to name a few.

Prior to coming to Green, Ovak's experience included teaching high school journalism, drama, and English, middle school language arts, and elementary school reading. Both her bachelor's degree (Comprehensive Communications 7-12) and her master's degree (Reading K-12) were completed at Bowling Green State University. She received her Gifted Specialist license from Ashland University.

Watch for updates and information on Advanced and Enrichment. To contact Kristi Ovak with questions about advanced programs, please email her at ovakkristi@greenlocalschools.org or call her at 330-899-8700.

The Bulldog Beat

The Bulldog Beat is a new, unique program designed to train students to become backpack reporters, news anchors and video technicians. Students in grades 6 – 12 have the opportunity to work with and learn from each other writing news stories, conducting on-camera interviews, editing, shooting and directing programs that will air on our GCTV Channel 16.

The Bulldog Beat students will be assigned their own

"beats" throughout the district and the city. Their articles and programs will appear on GCTV, various web sites and local media outlets.

Blessings in a Backpack is a blessing to Green community in more than one way

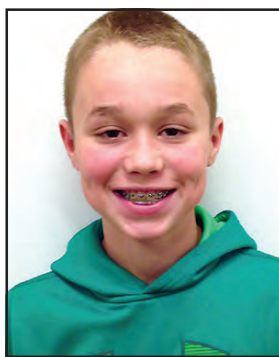

The local program, Blessings in a Backpack, is helping the community in many ways. Blessings is a hunger fighting program that provides food for kids to have on the weekends. They pass out bags of food with ten to twelve items per bag. They also give each of the siblings a bag for the weekends along with that child's bag. Blessings has been uniting the community together since it started. Community members help volunteer to pack the children's bags every three weeks. Blessings in a Backpack also has school and company food drives.

One of the most important components of Blessings is the volunteers who work the program. These giving and caring individuals come pack bags, inventory the food, and deliver food to the pantry. There is a wide spectrum of ages in the pantry on any given day. Jennifer Doerrner, the Blessings in a Backpack coordinator, said that her volunteers were some of the kindest and most generous people she ever met. "It is an honor working with them," said Doerrner. The volunteers make this program work and make sure the kids in Green Local Schools get food over the weekends.

The reason this program can serve about 200 kids this year is because of the food drives. "The food drives are what make our program able to never turn a family away," said Jennifer Doerrner. The school fund raisers really have helped the program sustain the kids. Last year, the Middle School donated 10,000 items. As of October 13, 2015 the food drive at the Primary School had donated 1,400 items for Blessings. The teachers and staff at Green Primary and Greenwood Elementary raised 70% of the initial cost to fund the program for the first year. The schools weren't the only ones who helped raise money and food for Blessings. Over the four years that Blessings has been operating, the program has been community driven. The Green Fire Department had a pancake breakfast and donated a portion of the money to the Blessings program. Panchos Southwestern Grille raised $1,500 with the help of Green student, Paige Miller. The Boy and Girl Scouts and Park Auto Group held food drives. FedEx gave monetary donations as well as food items. The "Hotels on the Hill" off Arlington Road donated items as well as providing volunteers to pack bags. The churches throughout Green have also stepped up to the plate providing volunteers and donations. The whole community is pulling together to make Blessings a big success. You may have already donated to Blessings in a Backpack without realizing the service you were providing. The community has made Blessings in a Backpack a huge success that it is not just for the children that have full tummies, but for a community that has united against childhood hunger.

Parent Mentors

My name is Amy Atallah, and I am the Parent Mentor for the Green Local School District.

Amy Atallah

A Parent Mentor is the parent of a child with a disability employed by a local education agency to help school districts and families by providing training, support and information services.

My youngest son Zayne is 6 years old, and a kindergartner at Greenwood. He was born with a rare non-genetic birth defect called Proximal Femoral Focal Deficiency (PFFD). PFFD is a fancy term for very tiny femur bones, and missing his fibula in both legs as well. Zayne has had to learn to re-walk on several occasions, and he continues to amaze me every day. He may do things a bit different than most, but he gets the job done. Zayne has taught my family to never judge on appearance. All kids come in different sizes, shapes and abilities. I'm here to help your child deserve a chance at whatever they want to do.

As a Parent Mentor it is my job to listen and provide support to families and educators on an individual basis. The program is a great resource to families and school personnel on education laws, district programs and community resources. One of those resources is the Parent Mentor Involvement Series, which brings pertinent parenting issues to our district in the form of unique programming.

The first program in our series is Stepping Stones Triple P. Stepping Stones Triple P is based on Triple P's positive parenting strategies. It helps you manage problem behavior and developmental issues common in children with disabilities. It also helps encourage behavior you like, cope with stress, develop a close relationship with your child and teach your child new skills. You choose the type of Stepping Stones help based on your own needs.

Triple P will be held on Thursday, November 19th from 6 – 7:30 pm in the GPS Library. There is no cost to attend.

Please feel free to contact me about this program, or any other topic relating to your child. The most important aspect of being a Parent Mentor is to build collaborative partnerships between families, schools and committees to benefit students with disabilities.

I can be reached through email at atallahamy@greenlocalschools.org, or via phone at 330-896-7723. Like us on Facebook at Parent Mentor Program – Green.
